

QUARTZ WATCHES

Your quartz watch is among the most accurate timepiece sold today. This accuracy begins with the battery which stimulates a quartz crystal timing element to vibrate at the rate of 32,768 cycles per second. Through solid state circuitry, these vibrations are electronically reduced to exactly one impulse per second- producing accuracy to within seconds per month. Quartz watches never need winding. However, these watches may stop after about a year because the battery needs replacement.

REPLACING YOUR BATTERY

After about a year a battery-powered watch may stop or lose time because it needs a new battery. For battery replacement, it is best to take your watch to an experienced jeweler. Make sure that the same brand and number battery is used when the battery is replaced. Insertion of an incorrect battery may damage your watch. Such damage is not covered by your warranty.

QUALITY AND CARE

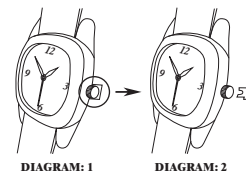

Your new watch has been created by highly skilled craftsmen using quality materials selected to enhance the beauty and utility of the timepiece. Avoid dirt and dampness since the tiniest speck of dust or moisture can interfere with the accuracy and functioning of the watch. Therefore, the case should not be opened except by a qualified watch maker.

INSTRUCTION TO OPERATE

A plastic battery stopper has been inserted on the crown in diagram 1.

Remove the battery stopper and push the crown back into place for the watch to start functioning shown in diagram 2.
